Example use: Online Journal Club

You could use a variety of digital collaboration techniques in your teaching, from informal discussions to assessed group work.

One example to consider is an online journal club – a group that meets regularly to discuss articles in discipline / professional-related literature.

Which collaboration method would you choose?

If you were part of an online journal club, which of the four collaboration methods named overleaf would be your preferred choice?

Using the stickers and voting board provided, select which method you would prefer to use if you were:

- Participating as a student
- Facilitating as an academic
